Kentucky State Resort Parks

Kentucky offers 18 state resort parks, more than any other state. This wealth of resort parks, each featuring a full-service lodge and dining room, has given rise to our reputation as “the nation’s finest state park system.”

Kentucky’s resort parks were developed to bring unexpected comfort and recreational opportunity in the midst of unspoiled nature.

Blue Licks Battlefield State Resort Park

Throughout history, the salt springs at Blue Licks attracted prehistoric animals, Indians, pioneers and 19th-century Southerners who came for the therapeutic waters. Blue Licks was also the site of the last Revolutionary War battle in Kentucky, in 1782. Visit the Pioneer Museum to learn more about the fascinating history of Blue Licks. The park is 48 miles northeast of Lexington on US 68.

Buckhorn Lake State Resort Park

Tucked away in the mountains, Buckhorn is truly the “Great Escape.” The resort is a mecca for nature-lovers and folks who want to get away from it all. Curl up next to the lodge’s fireplace or enjoy the mountain air from your private balcony. Surrounded by mist-ringed mountains marching down to the lake’s edge, every view from this resort is inspiring. The lodge also features a Conference Center, with all the guest services under one roof. Delicious catered meals are served fresh from the kitchen and guest rooms are only a few steps away. The resort is 124 miles southeast of Lexington. Take I-64 east to the Mountain Parkway. Exit at Campton and take KY 15 south to KY 28 west, then KY 1833 to the park.

Carter Caves State Resort Park

Beneath the forested hills of this resort, nature has hidden more than 20 twisting caverns. Visit Cascade Cave, with a 30-foot underground waterfall or X Cave, where, for millions of years, nature has formed luminous stone fans, pipes and spirals. Above ground, enjoy golf, canoeing, hiking, horseback riding and mountain biking on 20 miles of single and multi-use trails. In addition to the beautiful fieldstone lodge, the resort offers cottages in a wooded setting. Carter Caves is 30 miles west of Ashland, off I-64 west to KY 182 north.

Cumberland Falls State Resort Park

Imagine a wall of water falling 60 feet into a boulder-strewn gorge, a whispering mist that kisses the face and a magical moonbow visible on a clear night under a full moon. Known as the “Niagara of the South,” the 125-foot wide curtain of water is dramatic day or night. But it is only at night during a full moon that you can see the moonbow (weather permitting), a phenomenon not found anywhere else in the Western Hemisphere! Feel the excitement of the river on a rafting or canoe trip. A professional outfitter is located 5 miles east of the resort.

As spectacular as the setting that surrounds it, the historic Dupont Lodge, built of massive hemlock beams and knotty pine, offers a spectacular view of the Cumberland River valley. The lodge is a perfect retreat after a day of hiking, rafting, swimming or guided horseback riding (seasonal). From I-75, take the Corbin exit and US 25W to KY 90.

General Butler State Resort Park

This hilltop resort at the confluence of the Ohio and Kentucky rivers honors a prominent military family. Named for Gen. William Orlando Butler, the family's military fame spanned from Colonial times through the American Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican War and the Civil War. The Butler-Turpin House, built in 1859, offers a glimpse of the family history with 18th- and 19th-century heirlooms. Capture some of the area's river town charm in the resort's hilltop lodge and enjoy golf, hiking, swimming and tennis. A spacious conference center makes this resort a destination for business as well as pleasure. The park also features an exciting new dining concept, "Two Rivers" Restaurant spotlighting Kentucky cuisine. The park is 44 miles northeast of Louisville, off I-71 at Carrollton.

Natural Bridge State Resort Park

It has taken nature millions of years to form the natural sandstone arch from which this park takes its name. Located adjacent to the Daniel Boone National Forest, near the Red River Gorge Geological Area, the bridge spans 78 feet and is 65 feet high. At Natural Bridge, each season has a unique charm. Hikers are drawn to this rugged, scenic area of high stone cliffs and stone arches, but tenderfoots can also enjoy the scenic, ridge-top views from the park's sky lift. Hemlock Lodge is nestled in the mountainside, overlooking a pool complex and Hoedown Island. The resort is 52 miles south-east of Lexington, off the Mountain Parkway on KY 11.

Pine Mountain State Resort Park

Overlooking the Kentucky Ridge State Forest, this mountain-top resort became Kentucky's first state park in 1924. The Mountain Laurel Festival is celebrated here the last weekend in May. Experience the beauty of each season at Pine Mountain on hiking trails named Hemlock Garden, Honeymoon Falls, Living Stairway and Rock Hotel. Relax in the lodge with private balconies overlooking the forest or in one of the cozy cottages. This resort is home of the championship 18-hole golf course Wasioto Winds, recently ranked by Golf Digest as the fourth best new public course in the nation. Designed by Michael Hurdzan, Ph.D., it is a links-style course in a valley between two mountains. Wasioto Winds offers a pro shop with clubs and apparel, all-weather golf carts and an indoor training center. Golf packages are offered year round. Wasioto Winds proudly hosts the First Tee of Pine Mountain, a youth development program. The resort is 15 miles north of Middlesboro off US 25E in Pineville.

Big Bone Lick State Park

Fifteen to twenty-thousand years ago, during a period known as the Pleistocene Epoch, a great ice sheet covered an area from Canada to the Ohio River. On the edges of this ice sheet, great herds of giant mastodons, woolly mammoths and bison were attracted to the warm salt springs that still bubble from the earth at Big Bone Lick. The salty marsh that attracted the prehistoric visitors also proved to be a fatal attraction. Some of the giant creatures became trapped and perished in what the early pioneers called “jelly ground,” leaving skeletons and clues about life in prehistoric Kentucky. Discovered by European explorers in 1739, fossils from Big Bone Lick were sent to museums throughout the world and examined by Benjamin Franklin and President Thomas Jefferson. The extensive fossil collection excavated from this site recognizes Big Bone Lick as the birthplace of American vertebrate paleontology. Visitors to the museum and Discovery Trail can witness a scene in Kentucky long before the arrival of man and walk along a boardwalk through a recreated marsh and savannah. The park is also home to modern-day Ice Age descendants, a buffalo herd! Exit I-75 at KY 338.

Carr Creek State Park

Enjoy a variety of activities at this park on Carr Fork Lake. Park your RV or pitch your tent and relax in one of the best campgrounds in southeastern Kentucky. Conveniently located off KY 15, the campground offers all the camper comforts surrounded by mountain scenery. The park also features the longest lakefront sand beach in the Kentucky State Park system. A full-service marina near the park provides lake access as well as fishing and boating supplies. Pleasure boaters and fishermen can explore the 750-acre lake with miles of shoreline and good bass, crappie and walleye fishing. The park is 15 miles southeast of Hazard on KY 15 south.

Columbus-Belmont State Park

A visit to Columbus-Belmont, high above the Mississippi River, recalls the November 7, 1861, Battle of Belmont and the fight to control this waterway. Confederate General Leonidas Polk established camps on both the Kentucky and Missouri sides of the river and named the more heavily fortified Columbus the "Gibraltar of the West." But a Union General destined for the White House, Ulysses S. Grant, outflanked the "Gibraltar" and forced evacuation of the Confederates in 1862. Today, you can still see the massive chain and anchor used by the South to block passage of the Union gunboats and the earthen trenches dug to protect 19,000 Confederate troops. The farmhouse that served as the Civil War hospital is now a museum that interprets many historic events at this site.

At one time, national leaders wanted to move the Capital of the United States from Washington to Columbus. The park has a beautiful campground with a spectacular view of the Mississippi River and Activity Center. The park is 36 miles southwest of Paducah on KY 80.

350 PARK ROAD, COLUMBUS KY 42032-0009, 270-677-2327

Fishtrap Lake State Park

Fishtrap Lake is 7 miles south of Pikeville in Pike County, home of the legendary Hatfield-McCoy feud. Feuds are less likely these days since the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River was impounded in 1969, creating the calming waters of Fishtrap Lake. Enclosed by the highest dam in Kentucky (195 feet) and guarded by the Appalachia Mountains, the 1,130-acre lake is narrow and deep. The lake draws its name from the pioneers who noticed the fish traps used by the Native Americans. To this day, the lake has a great reputation for fishing: bass, bluegill, catfish and hybrid stripers. A privately operated marina and a Corps of Engineers campground provide the means to explore a lake that's the "real McCoy." For information on Fishtrap Lake and the Hatfield-McCoy feud contact the Pikeville-Pike County Tourism Commission.

Fort Boonesborough State Park

Daniel Boone and his men reached the Kentucky River on April 1, 1775, and established Kentucky's second settlement. Fort Boonesborough has been reconstructed as a working fort complete with cabins, blockhouses and furnishings. Resident artisans, in period clothing, perform craft demonstrations and impart pioneer experiences to modern-day visitors. The Kentucky River Museum in the historic Lockmaster's house on Lock and Dam 10 provides personal glimpses into the lives of families who lived on the river and worked the locks and dams in the 1900s. Camp on the Kentucky River as Daniel Boone did and enjoy the modern-day fun of a pool complex with a water slide. From I-75, take exit 95. On I-64, exit at Winchester.

General Burnside Island State Park

During the Civil War, Union General Ambrose Burnside patrolled what was then the Cumberland River surrounding this 400-acre island to keep watch for the Confederates. Today, the waters of Lake Cumberland are more placid, a peaceful retreat for campers, boaters, golfers and anglers. A marina near the park has all the supplies for a great day on the lake and the campground is the perfect home base for outdoor adventure. The only challenge to modern-day visitors may be the 18-hole golf course, fun but certainly not hazard-free! The park is 8 miles south of Somerset on US 27.

Grayson Lake State Park

Sheer sandstone canyons and gentle slopes contain the 1,512 acres of Grayson Lake. The land was a favorite camping site for Shawnee and Cherokee Indians, and you will discover why with a visit to the park's spacious campground. Enjoy a picnic meal cooked over the grill and relax under the stars in a tent or camper. The 18-hole golf course, Hidden Cove, was ranked among the best of its type in 2004 by Golf Digest. The park is 25 miles southwest of Ashland. Take I-64 west to KY 7 south.

Kincaid Lake State Park

A campground, a 183-acre lake, hiking trails, mini-golf and a new 9-hole golf course are all the ingredients that make Kincaid Lake a popular retreat for campers, fishermen, boaters and golfers. The golf course is set in wooded, rolling terrain and features undulating fairways. Explore the lake in a rental boat from the marina, or soak up the summer sunshine at the lakeside swimming pool. Surrounded by open woodland, the campground offers quiet seclusion with all the modern conveniences campers expect. The park is 48 miles southeast of Covington and 61 miles northeast of Lexington. Take US 27 to Falmouth and KY 159 to the park.

Levi Jackson Wilderness Road State Park

Hike in the footsteps of pioneers on two historic trails, the Wilderness Road and Boone's Trace. These thoroughfares carried more than 200,000 settlers from the eastern colonies into the western frontier between 1774 and 1796. But danger lurked along the way; McNitt's Defeat, Kentucky's worst Indian massacre, occurred here in 1786. Visit the Mountain Life Museum and the 19th-century McHargue's Mill. The park is south of London, off I-75 at exit 38.

Lincoln Homestead State Park

The same spirit of adventure that brought other pioneers to Kentucky led Abraham Lincoln's grandparents to the knolls of Kentucky near the Beech Fork River. The park features the original home of Lincoln's mother, replicas of the 1782 cabin and blacksmith shop where his father was reared and learned his trade, and the home of Mordecai Lincoln, the favorite uncle of the President. Split-rail fences and pioneer furniture portray the rugged pioneer life. An 18-hole golf course accents the rolling hills of this historic setting and offers visitors quite a different set of challenges than those faced by the pioneers. Take the Bluegrass Parkway to US 150 east or KY 555 south.

Mineral Mound State Park

This peaceful setting on the shores of Lake Barkley is historically linked to the author F. Scott Fitzgerald. The property was once the farm of Willis B. Machen, grandfather of Zelda Sayre Fitzgerald. It's not hard to imagine the serene, Gatsby-style era from this park, with idyllic days of playing golf and cruising the lake. The park has a challenging Signature Series 18-hole golf course. The front 9 holes are situated in a wooded area and many of the back 9 holes are flanked by lake views. A pro shop offers rental carts, clubs and golf merchandise. The park also has a picnic area, a fishing pier and a boat ramp. Mineral Mound is 1 mile south of Eddyville on KY 93, off US 62/641. The park entrance is north of the I-24 exit.

My Old Kentucky Home State Park

Federal Hill was the inspiration for Stephen Foster's famous ballad, "My Old Kentucky Home." Today, this Georgian-style mansion is as endearing to visitors as it was in 1852, the year Foster wrote what has become the official state song while visiting his cousins, the Rowan family. Step into the days of the antebellum South as costumed guides escort you through the stately mansion and formal gardens. During summer months, the outdoor drama "Stephen Foster — The Musical" is performed under the stars in the park's amphitheater. Christmas candlelight tours highlight the holidays when the mansion is adorned with holly, pine and fruit garlands. The park is in Bardstown on US 150.

Old Fort Harrod State Park

In 1774, James Harrod established the first permanent settlement west of the Alleghenies in what would become Central Kentucky. Preserving Kentucky’s pioneer history, the fort has been reconstructed near the site of the original. Heavy timbers form stockade walls and enclose the cabins and block-houses. Craftspeople, dressed in period clothing, perform pioneer tasks such as woodworking, weaving, basketry and blacksmithing and tend the farm animals and gardens. The Lincoln Marriage Temple shelters the original log cabin where Abraham Lincoln’s parents were married on June 12, 1806. The Mansion Museum houses Civil War artifacts, an outstanding historical gun display, Native American artifacts and a Lincoln collection. Pine Mountain Trail (UNDER DEVELOPMENT)

The Pine Mountain Trail project is the brainchild of many government and private groups to showcase the geology, history and spectacular scenery of the central Appalachian Mountains. Ultimately, the trail will be 120 miles long and link Breaks Interstate Park with Cumberland Gap National Park. The trail will traverse the crest of Pine Mountain on the Kentucky-Virginia border, and cross terrain replete with pioneer homesteads, waterfalls, cliffs, rock shelters, caves, upland bogs and scenic overlooks. Currently, 28 miles of the trail is available for hiking and non-motorized vehicles. Trail guides, maps and gear are available at www.pinemountaintrail.com.

Boone Station State Historic Site

Ever restless for new frontier, Daniel Boone left Fort Boonesborough and established a pioneer station on this site in 1779. Located north of the Kentucky River, near what is today the town of Athens, the settlement was home to 15 or 20 families in the early 1780s. However, the Boone family suffered many hardships during the three years they lived here, including the deaths of their son Israel and their nephew Thomas at the Battle of Blue Licks. Daniel Boone's brother, Samuel, is buried at Boone Station. To reach the site, take I-75, exit 104 to KY 418 East (Athens-Boonesborough Rd.) then turn left on KY 1973, then turn right on Gentry Road.

FOR INFORMATION, CONTACT FORT BOONESBOROUGH STATE PARK. (P. 50)

Constitution Square & Isaac Shelby Cemetery State Historic Sites

Constitution Square preserves a series of events in Kentucky's history: the constitutional conventions that preceded statehood. For eight years the frontier statesmen who lived in what was then the Kentucky County of Virginia struggled for independence. Finally, on June 1, 1792 Kentucky became the fifteenth state in the Union and Isaac Shelby, a Revolutionary War hero and convention delegate, was named the first governor of the new Commonwealth. Visit Grayson's Tavern and the first post office west of the Alleghenies; and replicas of the jail, courthouse and meeting house. From Lexington, take US 27 south to KY 34 west. From Louisville, take I-64 east to US 127 south.

While in Danville, also visit the grave of Isaac Shelby, (1750-1826) Kentucky's esteemed first and fifth governor. Shelby is buried at his estate, Traveller's Rest. The cemetery and picnic area are 5 miles south of Danville off US 127.

134 SOUTH SECOND STREET, DANVILLE KY 40422, 859-239-7089

Dr. Thomas Walker State Historic Site

Although Daniel Boone is often remembered as Kentucky's most famous pioneer, Dr. Thomas Walker was actually the first frontiersman in Kentucky, preceding Boone by 17 years.

A physician and surveyor, Walker led the first expedition through Cumberland Gap in 1750. Dr. Walker was an agent for the Loyal Land Company of Virginia and was exploring the western wilderness seeking land for settlement. Near the river, which he named the Cumberland, Dr. Walker built the first cabin in Kentucky, a replica of which stands on the site today. Dr. Walker's journal, recorded during his four-month exploration, described plentiful wildlife, thickly tangled woods and rugged terrain.

Jefferson Davis State Historic Site

Jefferson Davis was elected President of the Confederate States of America on February 18, 1861, less than a month before the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln as President of the Union, and two months before the outbreak of the Civil War, on April 12, 1861. Ironically, these two destined adversaries were born in Kentucky in log cabins within one year and 100 miles apart. The 351-foot obelisk marks the birthplace of Jefferson Davis, born on June 3, 1808. Outstanding views of the countryside are available from the top of the monument accessible by elevator. A visitor's center has exhibits and a gift shop. The site is 10 miles east of Hopkinsville on US 68.

270-886-1765

Old Mulkey Meetinghouse State Historic Site

The oldest log meetinghouse in Kentucky was built in 1804 during a period of religious revival. Many Revolutionary War soldiers and pioneers, including Daniel Boone's sister, Hannah, are buried here. The structure has twelve corners in the shape of a cross and three doors, symbolic of the Holy Trinity. From Glasgow, take scenic KY 63 to KY 163 south.

Perryville Battlefield State Historic Site

On October 8, 1862, the rural peace of this tranquil countryside was shattered by cannon explosions and the death moans of young soldiers. Perryville became the site of the most destructive Civil War battle in the state which left more than 6,000 killed, wounded or missing. The park museum tells of the battle that was the South's last serious attempt to gain possession of Kentucky. The battlefield is one of the most unaltered Civil War sites in the nation; vistas visible today are virtually those the soldiers saw on that fateful day in 1862. A self-guided walking tour on the battlefield interprets battle events. From Lexington, take US 68 west to US 150 west.

The 2006 National Civil War Reenactment will be held in conjunction with the 144th anniversary of the Battle of Perryville, October 7-8, 2006.

White Hall State Historic Site

Near Fort Boonesborough is another historic treasure, the home of Cassius Marcellus Clay – emancipationist, newspaper publisher, Minister to Russia, and friend to Abraham Lincoln. Clay's daughter, Laura Clay, was born at White Hall in 1849 and was politically active for women's suffrage and states' rights. In 1920, Laura Clay became the first woman to be nominated for U.S. President by a major political party. This restored 44-room Italianate mansion was built in 1799 and remodeled in the 1860s. In addition to the heirloom and period furnishings, White Hall has many unique features for its day, including indoor running water and central heating. The park is off I-75 at Exit 95.

William Whitley House State Historic Site

This is the first brick home and circular racetrack in Kentucky, completed in 1794 by William Whitley and his wife Esther. The estate, known as Sportsman's Hill, is a monument to pioneer ingenuity and resourcefulness. The brick house was built in the Flemish bond pattern for greater strength and has a secret chamber for hiding in the event of an Indian attack. Dubbed the "Guardian of Wilderness Road," the house was a gathering spot for early Kentuckians, including George Rogers Clark and Daniel Boone. Take US 27 south from Lexington to US 150 east.
